

Levi Qumaluk

Levi was born on May 7, 1919 in a camp on the Kugoolu River near Puvirnituq.

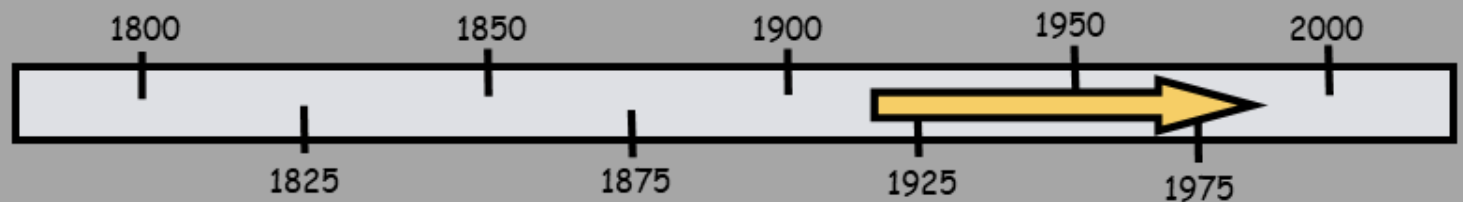

Although he is also known for his carvings, Levi started making stonecut prints in 1962. His artwork can be found in most Puvirnituq Print Collections since 1979. The theme he exploits most is the Inuit struggle for survival in an extremely cold environment. With this theme, you can often see scenes of hunts, legends and mother and child activities.

No title
n.d.

"A Man and His Wife are Making a Kayak"
n.d.

Fun fact about the artist

Levi is recognized as one of the most talented carvers of the eastern Arctic.

"Man Cleaning Fish Beneath Drying Kayak"

1991