

The movie is about teens that live in the Ghetto. Teens who go to one school with all races, teens who can't get along with each other, almost everyday there was a fight, people shooting at each other and kids running away. The teens are writing in their Diaries everyday to work out their problems with the diaries so they can get it out of their heads.

This movie means soo much to me now that I watched it. It mad me feel so sad while I was watching it. The teens are going through alot. So many different races all under one big roof. It made me wonder. Do they do that to Innocent people? Draw nasty pictures of a person? The movie is just like what we were reading, Crazy and dangerous The school, Woodrow Wilson, reminds me of a town where I use to live, ruled by racism!

This movie says alot about the world. 33.3% of the world is at war. The whole world can't get along, just like in every school, ruled by racism. Maybe if the whole world could gather up in one continent and make a huge T.V. so everyone in the world could watch it so something will happen. I believe in everything that happend in the movie.

The movie is about teens that live in the Ghetto. Teens who go to one school with all races, teens who can't get along with each other, almost every day there was a fight, people shooting at each other and kids running away. The teens are writing in their Diaries every day to work out their problems with the diaries so they can get it out of their heads.

This movie means soo much to me now that I've watched it. It mad me feel so sad while was watching it. The teens are going through alot. So many different races all under one big roof. It made me wonder Do they do that to Innocent People? Draw nasty pictures of a person? The movie is just like what we were reading, crazy and dangerous The school, Woodrow Wilson, reminds me of a town where I use to live, ruled by racism!

This movie says alot about the world. 33.3% of the world is at war. The whole world can't get along, just like in every school, ruled by racism. Maybe if the whole world could gather up in one continent and make a huge T.V. so everyone in the world could watch it so something will happen. I believe in everything that happened in the movie.

Teachers' Notes

Content of the message

- Shares ideas and opinions by supporting with examples from the text (e.g. 33% of world at war)
- Original text
- Takes some risks with language (e.g. ruled by racism) to convey a message

Formulation of the Message

- Good control of basic vocabulary makes minor errors when expressing more complex, original thoughts
- Language repertoire is appropriate for the topic (e.g. ghetto, races, racism)
- Errors do not impede the understanding of the text.